United Way of Allegheny County celebrates record year of community impact and fifth year of fundraising growth

Pittsburgh, Pa. (June 10, 2015) – Today, United Way of Allegheny County hosted their annual campaign celebration to recognize the organizations, donors and volunteers whose support has helped impact more than 180,000 people in need across Allegheny County this past year. 2014 campaign chair Ray Buehler, chairman, Schneider Downs & Co., Inc., revealed that $34,698,986 was raised during the 2014 fundraising campaign to support United Way’s work in developing children and youth to their full potential, helping individuals and families regain financial stability, keeping seniors safe in their homes, supporting veterans transitioning back to civilian life, and helping people with disabilities achieve greater independence. This total represents a two percent increase over last year’s total, and marks the fifth consecutive year of growth.

“Our goal was to exceed last year’s total of $33.9 million in order to expand United Way’s impactful work and help more people across the region. Through the ardent commitment of United Way’s donors, volunteers and advocates, United Way is poised to help address more needs than ever before,” said Buehler.

This year’s fundraising dollars have made it possible for United Way to address a myriad of needs in the community. Notable achievements include:

- Expansion of Be A Middle School Mentor, providing weekly mentoring to 325 sixth – eighth grade students in 15 Pittsburgh Public Schools
  - 76% of students improved their math grades
  - 67% improved their reading grades
  - 84% have Pittsburgh Promise-ready attendance rates, compared to 74% of other students
- Participation of 14,000 students and almost 700 volunteers across 22 school districts in the Be There school attendance campaign
