

Strength in Numbers

A commitment to making a larger impact.

The mergers which formed United Way of Southwestern Pennsylvania continue to create efficiencies and a more sustainable network for the entire region.

Strength in Numbers

United Way of Southwestern Pennsylvania has the honor and advantage of serving five distinct, vibrant counties—Allegheny, Butler, Westmoreland, Fayette and Armstrong. Together, our resources and knowledge have created a highly efficient network organization that has broad impact in every community across the area.

WHY UNITED WAY MATTERS

- Our pooled resources and knowledge improve our ability to solve the most pressing problems facing our region, while developing and maintaining strategies that work for each local community.
- Together we unite more leaders that become a more synergistic force for community problem-solving.
- We have a stronger voice to influence local, state and national policy issues.
- We've eliminated redundant back-office systems and processes—driving efficiencies and creating new human service investment opportunities.
- We've streamlined campaign coordination and communications making it easier for companies to support United Way across county lines.
- We provide a consistent, seamless experience for our individual donors who live in one county and work in another.
- During times of crisis, we are able to respond more quickly and effectively.

WHERE LOCAL DONATIONS GO

- As always, your dollars stay within the county you choose.
- Local leaders influence how to address local issues through local problem solving, fundraising and helping agency partners.
